

SUSQUEHANNA WALDORF SCHOOL

PARENT & CHILD PROGRAMS 22-23

About the Program

The Parent & Child program provides support and inspiration for the development of parents' self-confidence in meeting the challenges of raising young children. Families are strengthened through parent education that explores child development, as well as facets including discipline, mealtimes and bedtimes. In addition, caregivers learn age-appropriate stories, songs and crafts, and have the opportunity to observe first-hand their little ones in movement, play, and social interaction.

In a nurturing setting, support and friendship grow out of weekly conversations with other parents and our facilitating teacher, while the toddlers explore the sweet (and sometimes bumpy!) beginnings of socialization with peers. Special attention is given to support the unfolding of children's interests, motor abilities, social interactions, and problem-solving skills.

Along with other compatible principles, our work is based on the wisdoms and teachings of Rudolf Steiner and Waldorf Education, and incorporates elements of Emmi Pickler's work. Respectful caregiving, self-initiated movement, building trust and self-confidence in the very young child and ample amount of time for uninterrupted play are at the core of this work. Come learn with us in this imaginative, purposeful and loving environment.

Waldorf Education begins with the wonder and reverence of childhood.
